Skeletal muscle activity of Aloe vera extract were studied in the green frog (Rana hexadactyla) by the rectus abdominis muscle preparation. Aloe vera extract with distilled water 1µg/ml, 5µg/ml and 10µg/ml concentrations. The result indicated that the treatment of Aloe vera extract alone and combination with acetylcholine produce skeletal muscle activity. Thus from the present study it was concluded that Aloe vera extract were have good skeletal muscle activity alone and combination with Acetylcholine.
